LAW PARTNERS—Alexander R. Lawton, top, and George O'Donnell, who will continue the general practice of law as partners under the firm name of Lawton and Cunningham.

1957 George O'Donnell Becomes Partner Of A. R. Lawton

George O'Donnell has become a partner in the law firm of Lawton and Cunningham. He will be associated with Alexander R. Lawton, senior member of the firm.

Mr. O'Donnell succeeded to the partnership following the death of T. Mayhew Cunningham.

Both Mr. Lawton and Mr. O'Donnell have been members of the firm for many years. Mr. Lawton is general counsel for the Central of Georgia Railway and Mr. O'Donnell is solicitor.

Julian C. Sipple, John B. Miller and Luhr G. C. Beckmann Jr., will be associated with the firm as they have been in the past.
