ROBERT DEATHS.

son, Timothy H. Shay.

The death of Hon. Timothy H. Shay, which occurred at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. I. S. Bunde, on Thursday evening last, removes one of the oldest and best-known men from the valley west of the Blue Ridge. He had lived to the ripe old age of 88 years, 2 months and 18 days. Since the death of his wife, which occurred in February last, he had lived most of the time with his daughter, Mrs. Dayton Cole and Mrs. I. S. Bunde. He was at the house of the latter on Wednesday last, and after having taken dinner with the family, he attempted to go up a pair of out-door steps to the sitting room, the family still remaining at the table. They heard him fall, and hurrying to his aid found him lying in an unconscious condition, in which condition he laid about half an hour, after which he revived and could talk plainly and was entirely rational until the time of his death, which occurred at about 12 o'clock on Thursday night, Jan. 16th.

He was a son of the late Ephraim Shay, of Hainesville, and a grandson of Timothy Shay, who came from Virginia about the time of the Revolution and settled in Sandyston township, having purchased the farm recently known as the "Josh-the-C. Shay farm," now occupied by Geo. W. Shay. His wife, Catherine Layton, daughter of John Layton, died Feb. 4, 1850, aged about 70 years. They lived together as man and wife for nearly 60 years, having celebrated their golden wedding Jan. 8, 1881. For the past three years he had been totally blind, but for most of his long and laborious life he had enjoyed good health. The man which he owned at the time of his death was purchased by him about sixty years ago, and upon it he spent the whole of his married life and reared his family, the surviving members of which are: Levi, residing in Sandyston; Teresa, wife of Isaac S. Bunde, residing near Walpack Centre; Esther, wife of Geo. S. Wines, of Otisville, N. Y.; Ephraim, of Port Jervis; Evadne, wife of Dayton Cole, of Walpack, and Allen R., of Newton. Three had previously died, viz: James, John, and Abbia, wife of Hiram Bangs.

Mr. Shay was one of the first trustees of the M. E. Church, of Walpack Centre, of which he had been a member for sixty years, and in which he had held every official position. His wife was a member of the same church for about fifty-four years.

He was an interesting conversationalist, and after he became blind he delighted to recall and relate the incidents of his past life. Through his long and useful life he maintained the reputation of being an upright and honest man. He had no enemies, and his memory is held in universal respect by the people of that valley. He was a hard-working, energetic and thrifty farmer, and at one time had accumulated a handsome estate.

is quite prevalent in the neighborhood. What was at first a cold has taken on a more serious character, and soon prostrates the patient. The disease is all the time, perspiration, and the patient is unable to retain food on the stomach. It probably is a case of influenza now, among the people here. One of the carriers, John Kaiser, has died about the severity of the disease. However, if the proper treatment is given, it is hard to estimate the winter within the city; but it is immense. Creamery at 800 tons, best packer in the town, a milkman, butcher, open gathering crops 10 tons, the whole crop of potatoes thousands of tons, quality. On the last day of the year, he cut and put in by 22 inches for the 10 acres were estimated together with the loss. Through his long and useful life he maintained the reputation of being an upright and honest man. He had no enemies, and his memory is held in universal respect by the people of that valley. He was a hard-working, energetic and thrifty farmer, and at one time had accumulated a handsome estate. He assisted his neighbors financially, and had been very liberal with his children. He was a life-long Democrat of the Jeffersonian school, and as such represented his district in the New Jersey Assembly in 1882, '83 and '84. He had also held various township offices. In his public, as in his private life, his record is unstained. The funeral took place on Monday of this week, at 10 A. M., the services being conducted by the Rev. Mr. Price, pastor of the Walpack Centre M. E. Church. Andrew Roy Crane. At his late residence near Wylertown, the death of Mr. Andrew Roy Crane occurred on Thursday, January 8, 1901, after a brief illness. He was taken ill with a severe cold which developed into pneumonia, which caused his death. Mr. Crane was born near Wylertown and spent nearly his whole life in Frankford township, and was in his 73d year at the time of his death. He followed the cooper's trade in his early life, but for the past thirty-five years devoted his time to agricultural pursuits on his farm on which he died. In politics he was a Republican, but never sought office. His beloved wife and companion, Cornelia Reeves, departed this life about four years since. She was an estimable Christian woman, universally beloved by hosts of warm friends at home and abroad. She was a most genial and bright entertainer, the life and inspiration of a company. He was an honest upright man, courteous and unassuming in manner, a kind and affectionate husband and true friend. They were extremely fond of the society of young people, quick and ready to appreciate merit in others, and their hospitality was unbounded. He is survived by an only son, Theodor W., who was for sometime a teller in the Farmer National Bank of Deckertown, but recently has been at home aiding his father in managing his affairs. He has the sympathy of the entire community in his bereavement. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. A. W. Higgins on Sunday, 11th inst., at the Beersville Presbyterian Church. Mr. Higgins preached an able and appropriate sermon, selecting for his text the 17th verse of the 15th chapter of First Corinthians. The singing was by a quartette choir, composed of Mr. A. W. Higgins, soprano, Miss Lottie Douse, contralto, Mr. Channy Holson, tenor, Mr. G. C. Hockberry, bass, with Miss Ida Hockberry presiding at the organ. Interment in the Beersville cemetery. Elias Gould. Elias Gould, who resided in a tenant house of Mr. George B. Armstrong, near Pilectown, Frankford township, dropped dead in the road while on his way home from his daily labor, on Tuesday, January 15, 1901. He was about 65 years and 7

Bank Officers Elected.
On Tuesday of last week the annual election of directors and officers of the First National Bank, of Washington, took place, and resulted as follows: Directors—S. T. Smith, D. Vliet, F. M. Uehlen, W. G. Dufford, Wm. S. Rittenhouse, F. H. Hann. The directors elected the following officers: President, P. H. Hann; Vice President, S. T. Smith; Cashier, Wm. S. Rittenhouse. This bank to-day is in a most prosperous condition and its business is constantly on the increase, largely due to the careful management of its officers. Mr. Rittenhouse has held the position of cashier about five months, and during that time he has won the respect and good will of all having business to transact at that institution, by his accommodating and agreeable manner. He is also very attentive to duty and is thus a most valuable officer to the stockholders.

The G. A. B. Monument Fund.
The G. A. B. Monument Committee met at the Directors' Room of the Merchants' National Bank, Newton, on Wednesday, the 14th inst., pursuant to a call of the President, Chaplain A. A. Haines. The traveling being bad and the weather cold, as many were not present as was desirable, and but little business was done. In making up the receipts to the fund it was ascertained that the following amount of money had been received:

Lafayette.....	$102
Montague.....	82
Hardyston.....	111
Hardyston.....	50
Walpack.....	19
Newton.....	178
Frankford.....	50
Byram.....	9
Sussex County Picnic.....	25
Outside of County.....	28
Total.....	$606

Frankford has since paid in $6, and there are other moneys still in hands of Superintendents which would undoubtedly have been paid in on the day of the meeting had the weather and traveling been so that they could have been present. While the collections have not been as favorable as the committee could have wished, it is believed that the formation of other plans of soliciting will eventually produce all the money needed. NATHANIEL E. BRAY, Secretary.

The following is the list of collections made for the G. A. B. Fund in the Long Bridge School District, in Frankford township, by Miss Anna Blank, collector under Joseph E. Layton, Superintendent of collections:

Mary A. Burton.....	$1 00
Narciso Arellano.....	1 00
