CLARK, LIGHTFOOT, & RIFFLE: HIRAM CLARK AND ALL THAT FOLLOW

From family history by Nancy Bias Grotzinger, 1201 Hamlet Dr., Blue Springs, MO 64014 (1994)

Nancy dedicates her family history to "daughters Kristine and [Jill] Grotzinger and all grandchildren to come. May you always seek your future and honor your past."

Hiram Clark, Nancy's earliest known Clark ancestor, was born in Pennsylvania in 1820. He married Emma (maiden name unknown), who as born in Ohio in 1831. Emma's father was a native of Ireland; her mother, of Pennsylvania.

Hiram came to Fulton County, Ohio, in 1835 with his brother Cyrus. In 1843, he sold to Thomas Watkins the land on which he had settled in 1835. By March 20, 1852, he owned land in Flatrock Township.

Although unable to read or write, Hiram was a carpenter and later a gunsmith. Family tradition states that he helped design and build the Gatling Gun. Also, it is said that he was related to William Clark of the Lewis & Clark Expedition.

Hiram served as a private in Company F, 68th Ohio Infantry, during the Civil War. He is buried in Florida Village Cemetery, Florida, Ohio (no dates on marker).

GENERAL ELIJAH CLARK

An excerpt from Clark Clues, p. 31, on file in North Carolina State Library

"General Elijah Clark, born in VA, 1733, married Hannah Harrington in Virginia and settled first in North Carolina, just over the Virginia line. He lived there until the Indians burned his cabin and possessions. He gathered up his family--son John C. Clark, daughter Polly, and wife, Hannah--and on horseback came to Georgia in 1772 and settled on the south side of Broad River and Long Creek in Wilkes County. He and his family are buried in the Elijah Clark Memorial Park, created in Georgia in his honor. Georgia gave him a large plantation, and North Carolina gave a $30,000 gratuity for his military service. After the Revolution, he was Major General of the Georgia Militia. The fact that General Elijah Clark and his family settled on one side of Broad River and Christopher Clark and his family on the other side of the river is 'proof to many that they were related families' - both families were from Virginia, etc. . . . (See pages 17-18 of My Ancestors and Descendants by Carl B. Smith for more biography on General Clark."

Two Corrections

First, the May, 1994, issue of the Clarion should have been Vol. 18, No. 2, not Vol. 19, No. 2. Second, the digits in Charley C. Grigg's zip code (p. 15) were transposed. The address should have read Rt. 1, Box 172, Lancaster, TN 38569. Sorry!
