From Revolutionary War Records from S. C. Archives

TO THE HONORABLE MEMBERS OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA:

"Your Petitioner would respectfully represent to your Honorable Bodies that his Father, John Miles, was taken a prisoner at the Battle of the Hanging Rock, while engaged in fighting for the liberties of his country under General Sumter and taken to Camden and hung August 24, 1780 A. D. Your Petitioner would further state that he is informed that an act was passed by the Legislature of this state affording relief to a certain extent to the widows of those who were killed or died in the service of this Country during the ~~Revolutionary~~ Revolutionary War, but he has not been able to find any act which would extend to himself, but he would respectfully represent that under the peculiar circumstances of the case, he your Petitioner, might with great justice and propriety be allowed something. Your Petitioner is now very old and infirm and is supported at the Poor House in the vicinity of Columbia. As your Petitioner, while very young, was left an orphan in consequence of losing his Father in service of his Country, and as he is now very old and infirm, your Petitioner prays that you may for the few years remaining of his life, allow him a small pension and your Petitioner will ever pray

HANGING ROCK - The Battlefield Site of Hanging Rock is located in nr. Kershaw County, about 24 miles north of Camden - At this site one sees high boulders of rock, some of them hewn out and were used as trenches in the Revolutionary War - here the battle of Hanging Rock was fought - here, also, John Miles, along with others was hung by the British somewhere around 1780, following is an account given in "South Carolina in the Revolution" by McCrady, page 711.

"At Camden, under the very eyes of Cornwallis, himself, Samuel Andrews, Richard Tucker, John Miles, Josiah Gayle, Eleazer Smith, with others whose names were unknown, were taken out of jail and hanged without any ceremony whatsoever; others were indulged with a hearing before a court martial instituted by his Lordship for the trial of prisoners; but the evidences against them were not examined on oath and slaves were both permitted and encouraged to accuse their masters, not only at Camden but in other parts of South Carolina and at Augusta, Ga. the same bloody tragedies were enacted and many of the inhabitants fell sacrifices to this new mode of warfare".

REGULATORS - From McCrady's history, p. 594 "In the absence of courts of justice within their reach, the inhabitants of this section found it necessary to form an association, which was called Regulation, and the persons composing it called Regulators". John Miles was a Regulator - other leading Regulators were Moses Kirkland, Thomas Woodward and Barnaby Pope, along with others.
