Dear Robert-

You will recall that I wrote you about that little error in your article "Old Hilton Head Island Names" in Vol. XIX of Names in South Carolina, on page 49, in which you said that Squire William Pope's HALFBROTHERS OWNED FISH HAUL and LEAMINGTON PLANTATIONS.

 I explained that John Edward Pope, who inherited FISH HAUL, ~~was NOT a half-brother of Squire William, but his full brother~~ - both being the sons of William Pope Sr. and his 1st wife Sarah (Green) Pope.

I cant find your reply at the moment, but as I recall, you said something about correcting that on your master copy. Did you also say you would have it corrected in the next issue of "Names in South Carolina". If you did not, both Anna Stone and I would greatly appreciate it if you would do so. She is descended from John Edward, and I -as you know - am from William. We are very proud of the fact that these ancestors of ours were brothers - full brothers, both having the same mother and father. Please let me know if you will do this.

We had a nice December and part of January on Key Biscayne with our little family,
